Five Island Educators Can't Disprove Claims

COURTENAY (CP)—Richard T. Smith Thursday won the right to keep his seven-year-old son away from school where "he learned practically nothing."

Magistrate John Ryland dismissed a charge of failing to send the boy to school and said Smith's claim that he could give his son a better education at home was not disproved.

But since last March 7, the date used in the charge, the boy's health had improved 100 per cent, his personality had changed, his "zest for life" and imagination were undampened, said lawyer Miss Mildred E. Gordon.

She described Smith and his wife as "giants in their abilities." Mrs. Smith, who looks after Marcus' home instruction, testified she never attended school herself.

Mr. Smith, a cleaner at the RCAF air base at Comox near this east Vancouver Island community, told the court he left school when he was 14.

The school principal and the boy's teacher at Comox elementary school, two inspectors and the secretary of the local school board, appeared for the prosecution.

They said their main concern was that the boy's withdrawal from school took him out of "socialization" contact with other children, which they said was a key factor in preparation for the world he eventually would have to face.

Mr. Smith said he had no criticism of the Comox school. It was the "alleged progressive" system in vogue throughout British Columbia to which he objected.

"I am not the only one who is critical of the present trend by a long shot."

Enriched Farmers Forecast

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. Earl Rowe predicted Thursday that Liberal election funds will make farmers more prosperous in the weeks before the June 10 election.

The Progressive Conservative member for Dufferin-Simcoe, Ont., speaking in the Commons, said farmers perhaps "will be more prosperous during the last two weeks of May before harvesting."

"They might have new revenue; they might be more prosperous than they have been at any time in the last four years, but they will not attribute that to the hens."

Liberal Whip W. G. (Gib) Weir asked what Mr. Rowe meant by that. It was "a rather significant statement to make."

Mr. Rowe said Mr. Weir is an experienced politician. "If he were r ' just a little guilty, probably he would not ask that question," he added:

"I hope it does not cost more in his riding than it did the last time to get re-elected. But about the last two weeks in May or the first week in June, about the only revenue the down-to-earth farmers will have will be coming from the Grit (Liberal) campaign funds across Canada."

"Haven't you any?" interjected Finance Minister Harris.

Mr. Rowe: "I have heard your pork barrel is fuller than it has ever been before and I expect things will be as usual."

Gift Backs Verdict

No wonder they're all smiles! The jury not only acquitted Mrs. Beatrice Lachelli of murder for stabbing her husband to death, they passed around the hat in the jury room and presented her with $21 to buy her Pittsburgh family, shown jubilantly surrounding their mom, some Easter eggs. She told the court she killed dad for making her dance in front of his male friends while scantily attired.—(AP Photofax.)

'Fabulous Sums' Hit By Tory Leader

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker charged yesterday that Parliament has become a puppet in the hands of the cabinet.

He was speaking on a government motion asking Parliament to grant more than $2,000,000,000 for operation of the administration for the next six months.

Mr. Diefenbaker said it was an insult to and humiliation of Parliament for the government to come before it in the dying days of the session to request such "fabulous" sums with no time for their examination.

"Parliament no longer governs," he added. Its function was becoming "farcical."

"FAST AND LOOSE"

Stanley Knowles accused the government of playing "fast and loose" with parliament, but added there isn't much the opposition can do about it.

Parliament is expected to prorogue today, so that all parties can swing into the campaign for the June 10 election.

The CCF member for Winnipeg North Centre said the government is legislating increases in social security benefits through items in the estimates, instead of by proper legislative amendments to various welfare statutes.

He was referring to items in recent supplementary spending estimates for the current fiscal year, implementing various increases in social welfare payments forecast in Finance Minister Harris' budget.

Mr. Knowles protested against the items in the estimates implementing the forecast increases. The proper way for parliament to approve the increases was through legislation.

Finance Minister Harris picked up the gauntlet tossed by the Progressive Conservatives and said the government would be delighted if last year's pipeline battle in the Commons becomes an election issue.

"It will suit the Liberal party just as well as any other," he said in the Commons, challenging the opposition to make an election issue of the pipeline fight.

Pearson Speaks Out

Relations with Russia Worse After Hungary

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian relations with Russia took a turn for the worse in the wake of Soviet armed intervention in Hungary, says the 1956 report of the external affairs department.

The report, published Thursday, says relations between the two countries had been improving gradually since the death of Stalin in 1953 and particularly because of closer contacts following External Affairs Minister Pearson's visit to Russia in 1955.

But all that was ended when the Red Army put down the Hungarian rebellion.

Mr. Pearson said in a foreword to the report:

"Through the tragic sufferings of the Hungarian people, the entire free world and, surely, those nations which are somewhat curiously described as 'uncommited,' must have come to a final realization that the amiable facade of Soviet co-existence conceals the brutal Soviet conception of international relations as a jungle where the strong do what they will and the weak suffer what they must. But the agony of Hungary has been a bitter price to have this evident truth demonstrated once again."

Mr. Pearson says 1956 was not entirely a year of setback and gloom:

"The forces of freedom are fermenting in those communist countries which have previously had to submit to the totalitarian tyranny of Moscow."

The report says the Soviet leaders were obviously caught unprepared for the repercussions to their attempt to dissociate themselves from the "odium" of Stalinism.

But they showed themselves determined to retain effective control over their Eastern European neighbors even at the risk of destroying abroad the carefully-cultivated concept of a Soviet Union interested only in "peaceful co-existence."

18 Dead

Jammed Ferry Sinks

HIROSHIMA (AP) — A small Japanese ferry boat, jammed with 222 persons, sank in the Inland Sea today. The Japanese coast guard reported 18 known dead, 84 missing and 120 rescued.

Hiroshima police said a 16-year-old boy was at the helm at the time of the accident while the captain was collecting tickets from the passengers.

The ferry capsized, but there was no immediate announcement of the cause, police said.

The ministry of transportation said the 40-ton ship had a registered capacity of 82 passengers. The coast guard said it was carrying 218 passengers and four crewmen when it went down.

The sinking occurred 27 miles east of Hiroshima, in the same general area where the Shiun Maru ferry went down in May 1955 with loss of 160 lives.

Vancouver Chief:

'Expect More Crime'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chief Constable George Archer told the police commission Thursday that all types of crime will continue to increase in Vancouver.

In his report of department activities during March, Chief Archer said that "in every respect the trend is to more crime."

NO ALIBI

"We will have to contemplate a continued increase as the city grows," he added.

The chief urged the commission to "consider the whole picture, not only the highlights. This is not an alibi."

Earlier this week in passing a record budget for the police department of more than $4,500,000, an alderman said the police had better stop crime. He didn't want any alibis, he added.

Chief Archer said arrests were also on the increase.

TOUCH WOOD

"There has not been a robbery of an isolated store since March 20," said the chief.

"Touch wood," interjected Brig. William Murphy.

Murder Verdict Today

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) —An all-male Supreme Court jury will decide today whether Gerald Edward Eaton, 51, will be convicted of the murder of eight-year-old Carolynne Moore of Langley last April 26.

Eaton testified at his second trial that he killed the girl when his car struck her in a lane and he later hit her body with a wrench.

Double Criticism Of U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain lined up with France Thursday to criticize American proposals for world disarmament, said a western source at the United Nations disarmament sub-committee meeting here.

The source said the British delegate to the five-nation sub-committee, Allan Noble, also proposed the member states form a working party to study conventional arms reduction.

Red Glory Hikes

Counter Offensive?

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Komsomol Pravda yesterday called for recruitment of armies of school children to scour the countryside with geiger counters in a vast search for uranium ore.

The Communist Youth League organ declares that as things are Soviet school children have to break their heads to find good reasons for hikes in the country.

"What better way is there for them to put their idle time to use than for the glory of their motherland?" the paper asks.

MPs to Pass Hat For Eden's Bills

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Sketch says members of Parliament plan to pass the hat for money to pay Sir Anthony Eden's medical bills.

Eden is under treatment in Boston for a bile duct ailment.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

IT'S bad news for an employee of HMC Dockyard when he is promoted foreman. He loses money.

Under the revised pay scales (not yet official), a carpenter's helper gets more money than the carpenter. A journeyman gets more money than his foreman.

A supervising draftsman gets $350 a month, which averages out to $80 a week. A journeyman working under him gets from $2.25 to $2.30 an hour —more than $90 a week.

In many kinds of Dominion government employment in British Columbia, a journeyman loses roughly $40 a month if he is unlucky enough to be made a foreman.

The reason is this: The foreman is a civil servant on civil service pay. The journeyman is a union man, not a civil servant, on "prevailing rates" of pay.

The cost of living varies sharply from one part of the country to another. But Ottawa will not recognize cost of living in setting civil service pay. Civil servants everywhere in Canada get the same pay.

* * *

Government employees who are not civil servants are paid the going wage in the region. In Halifax, for instance, government laborers get $1.25 an hour. In Victoria they get $1.60 an hour. But the civil servant's pay packet is the same from coast to coast.

The civil servant's position is more secure. Some of the "prevailing rate" boys are on the temporary staff only. But many of them stay for years and years in that position—and in fact they are as near permanent employees as anyone can be in this chancy world.

* * *

Civil servants get more holidays than those who are not civil servants.

But when you have finished with fringe benefits and other trifling non-essentials, you still must admit that the journeyman gets more money than his boss —a state of affairs that would have amused the late Lewis Carroll.

Does Canada want to encourage bright young men to start at the top and work their way down?

* * *

It is depressing to think of a poor old bread-winner trudging home to break the bad news to his wife.

"Er—dear—there's something I ought to tell you."

"Out with it, then. The last time you used that tone of voice was when you lost $55 in that crap game at the manse."

"It's worse than that, I'm afraid. I've been promoted foreman."

"Promoted foreman? What's the matter with you? So that's what comes of all your big talk about how well you were doing."

"I'm sorry."

* * *

"Sorry? What good does that do me, slaving away all day, wearing the same old dress? But wait a minute—perhaps it's just temporary."

"No chance, I'm afraid. They warned me that I'm there to stay. But there's worse to come. Maybe they'll make me head of the department. And if they get really nasty—there's a distinct possibility I might be put in charge of the whole establishment."

"So that's it. Well, I've had enough. I'm going home to mother—you failure."

Flowers Spread Joy Among Six Hospitals

Happiness spread through several hospitals yesterday when thousands of golden daffodils and other early spring blooms were distributed through the Colonist-sponsored Share the Flowers plan.

Generous Victoria gardeners came through with flying colors to make this the last of the early spring collections, a big success.

Daffodils, hyacinths, forsythia and other varieties of flowers were distributed in abundance to the Gorge Road Hospital, Rest Haven Hospital at Sidney, Aged Women's Home, Aged Men's Home, Mount St. Mary and the Chinese Hospital.

Last week flowers were distributed to St. Joseph's Hospital and the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Other hospitals, which did not receive early spring flowers, will be first to receive flowers when the plan is renewed with late spring and early summer blooms.

Yesterday's flowers were contributed by Mrs. W. J. Weaver, 1584 Yale Street; A. H. Down, 1340 Yale Street; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Leason, 1031 Clare Street; A. J. Big Icebreaker

$4,000,000 Ship To Be Built Here

A $4,000,000 icebreaker, to be based at Victoria and for the first time provide icebreaking service in the western Arctic, will be constructed by Yarrows Ltd.

The department of transport at Ottawa announced the awarding of the contract yesterday.

By last night, Yarrows officials still hadn't heard officially of the decision and so declined to give details.

NOTHING RELEASED

"I was informed this morning nothing was to be released," general manager John Wallace said.

The helicopter-carrying vessel will be 223 feet long with a 48-foot beam. Other specifications for the new ship were not released. The helicopter will be used for scouting for open areas in the ice ahead of the ship.

An Ottawa official said the ship will operate in the north during the busy summer navigational season. For the rest of the year, it will serve as a lighthouse and navigation aid tender out of Victoria.

SEVERAL MONTHS

Work cannot start for several months — due to necessity for obtaining steel and for completing designs.

Mr. Wallace said it was too early to tell whether extra workmen would be hired when work on the icebreaker begins. It would depend on the work situation at the shipyard at the time, he said.

Council Decision

Present Location Set for Fire Hall

City council voted 5-4 yesterday in favor of locating a new central firehall, when built, on the present site, with the addition of the city market property.

But aldermen on the short end of the vote put up a strong fight.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said the present site was too valuable to use for a firehall when another location was just as suitable—the site of the old firehall on Yates.

Ald. Arthur Dowell maintained that the city could save $50,000 to $100,000 by building the new hall on the westerly 100 feet of the Central Junior High School grounds, which council should try again to obtain from the school board.

Ald. Elmer McEwen said the supposed value of the present firehall site was imaginary, and that it was beyond him why anyone would want to put the hall "away up there in the junior high school grounds."

LOCATION CONDEMNED

All the years he had been on council, said Ald. M. H. Mooney, fire chiefs had condemned the present location because of the difficulty of getting equipment in and out and the congestion. There were other suitable sites, he suggested.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he had come to the conclusion that the firehall should be in the area where the most money was invested, and that a Yates Street location wouldn't give the proper protection to the Victoria West industrial reserve. Ald. Austin Curtis, fire wardens' chairman, agreed with him, and said he was sure the city would not be able to sell the present site for very much money.

Four Plays Range Over Drama Field

By BERT BINNY

The third evening of the current drama festival had just about everything in the way of entertainment.

There was a delightful French comedy, a dour Scottish drama, a fourth-wall farce and one of Phillip Johnson's most amusing offerings.

"Mr. Tremlow Is Not Himself" (Columbine Players) was an excellent performance with Dorothy House as Mabel and Vaughan Barker and Kay Roberts as Mr. and Mrs. Braby outstanding.

"The Storm," a poetic drama by John Drinkwater, provided another literary piece, similar to Rona Murray's "My Love Is Dead" of Wednesday evening.

The basic idea has been used in other plays, but with more action and less poetry. The main parts were carried successfully by Carol MacCormac and Ailsa Rothery.

St. Andrew's Cathedral Players gave "The Pot Boiler," a play using a limited fourth-wall technique. It was all very riotous and quite farcical. But it left the thought that, even in a vehicle of this nature, some fluency was missing. Outstanding performer was Mickey Muir as Mr. Inkwell. Jim Pickford as Mr. Sud was suitably energetic while Betty Woods and Sharon Wood as Mrs. Pencil and Miss Ivory were also good.

Last came "The Fish" by the Peninsula Players, a most delightful, light French comedy. The setting for this play produced spontaneous applause directly it was revealed. All the players made sterling contributions to the undoubted success.

Competition ends tonight with presentation of "Man's Estate" by St. Luke's Players; "Fumed Oak" by the Theatre Guild and "Mary Frobisher" by the Student Nurses, Royal Jubilee Hospital Drama Club.

Firemen Win Boost

An 8½ per-cent wage increase was awarded to city firemen yesterday by a conciliation board, bringing their pay to the same level as that of city policemen, awarded an 8-per-cent increase a week ago.

The award is binding on both the firemen's union and the city.

It will increase fire department costs for this year by approximately $34,000. City Manager C. C. Wyatt estimated. The police award increased the police department budget by an estimated $33,000.

The increase will raise a first-class fireman's annual pay from $3,987 to $4,326, or his monthly pay to $360.51, compared with $350.18 for a first-class constable in the fourth year.

Father Beats Up Teacher for Striking Son

Should a teacher chastise an unruly student and if he does should an irate father take law into his own hands? Answers to questions will be supplied by a court at Madison, Ind. Principals in case are student William J. Adams, left, who was struck on chin by teacher Robert Beasley, centre, and who, in turn, was beaten up by Adams' father, at right with his wife. Beasley has sued Adams for assault. Students, teachers and fathers throughout U.S. are following case with interest—for future reference.—(AP Photofax.)

Love Triangle . . . . . . Given New Twist

Killer Reweds Faithless Wife

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) — Robert E. Sutton, found innocent of murdering the man with whom his ex-wife had an admitted love affair, was remarried to her last night, five hours after his acquittal.

Sutton, 29, a former Dallas oil promoter, was charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting of William Kenneth Boone outside the house of his former wife.

It took a special superior court ruling in which Arizona's three-day waiting period was waived in order for the couple to wed.

They were expected to take a honeymoon trip by plane to an undisclosed destination.

* * *

Sutton, when arrested Dec. 4, following the shooting, declared that Boone had "broken up my home."

Boone, known as "Buzzie," was a former disc jockey. He died 33 days after he was riddled with bullets from a gun Sutton admitted firing.

The defence had sought to establish that Sutton had feared for his life and his ex-wife said that she had warned him that Boone had a gun.

Mrs. Sutton testified as a defence witness that she had gone with Boone to Phoenix motels while still married to the defendant in the trial which ended here yesterday. She also admitted going to Mexico with Boone.

* * *

When the jury returned the verdict at noon, Sutton immediately called his ex-wife on the telephone to let her know what had happened.

She came to the courtroom and both left at the same time, hand in hand.

The Suttons are the parents of three children.

The couple was wed at Orangewood Presbyterian Church and immediately went into seclusion.

They had obtained the marriage licence after Superior Judge Charles Bernstein had waived the three-day waiting period provided for under Arizona's new pre-marital blood test law.

Defence attorney Marvin Johnson opened his case by reading a 97-page letter from Boone to Mrs. Sutton in which the one-time disc-jockey professed his love.

Backyard Drinking Allowed

EDONTON (CP) — The Alberta legislature made it legal Thursday for a person to have a drink of beer or liquor in his own backyard, or on his patio, or at his summer cottage.

Previously, alcoholic beverages could be kept or consumed only in a "residence." A redefinition of the word made the change possible.

Another change made on the final day of the session was to increase fines and set possible second-conviction jail terms for minors who enter beer parlors.

Leftist forces joined with the deposed premier's party in refusing to co-operate.

Young King Hussein, who suddenly dismissed the pro-Syrian government of Premier Suleiman Nabulsi Wednesday, asked Dr. Hussein Fakhri Khalidi to form a new government.

Khalidi, foreign minister until the Nabulsi government took over last October during a wave of anti-Western sentiment, is considered an elder statesman with leanings toward the West.

A report, without immediate official confirmation, said Khalidi informed the 22-year-old king he was unable to form a new government.

Apparently the so - called National Front, comprised of Nabulsi's National Socialist party, the Baath (Arab Resurrection Socialist party whose political outlook resembles that of the ruling Leftist party in Syria, and the Communists joined in boycotting Khalidi's efforts.

Washington at Odds Over Norman Case

WASHINGTON (CP)—Controversy erupted Thursday between Congress and the government over who should take responsibility for the publication of information which contributed to the suicide death of Canadian diplomat E. Herbert Norman.

The Senate's internal security sub-committee, which sought to brand Norman a Communist, claimed the state department agreed to publication of its charges. The state department promptly disclaimed responsibility.

Congressional and governmental circles showed increasing concern over the widening rift with Canada, two Senators deprecated the publication of such charges against a foreign diplomat and President Eisenhower repeated his regrets at Norman's death.

The day saw these developments:

1. The sub - committee, in a statement it released and then withdrew from publication a half-hour later, claimed the state department checked the Federal Bureau of investigation and informed the sub-committee it had corroborated the charges against Norman.

2. The state department replied with an emphatic "No" when asked by reporters whether it ever had given the sub-committee any secret security data on 7 Canadian, but refused to comment on the sub - committee's claim that the state department had checked the FBI.

3. Senator Theodore Green, chairman of the powerful Senate foreign relations committee, blasted the sub-committee for "interference in the affairs of a foreign government" and for refusing to accept an investigation which Canada said had disproved the Norman charges.

4. Senator Richard Neuberger (Dem., Ore.) repeated his call for a Senate inquiry into the publication of the charges and said executive agencies involved "owe a clearer explanation than the one-weak ones given" of their role in the clearance of the Norman information.

5. Eisenhower asked Canadian Ambassador Arnold Heeney to convey his expression of regret to Canada's Prime Minister St. Laurent. Heeney, who has been appointed to a new post in Canada, called at the White House to say goodbye.

Queen Home Again

All France Elated By Royal Visit

LONDON (CP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip came home Thursday ending a French visit that one Paris writer described as a "crescendo" of success.

The Royal Couple flew to London after a parting that touched French citizens from Premier Guy Mollet to the flower girls of Lille who entertained the Queen on the last day.

The Queen and Philip drove from the airport to Windsor Castle to rejoin their own small children, Princess Anne and Prince Charles, who had been watching their progress on television.

UNITY STRESSED

The whirlwind four - day romance between the 30-year-old Queen and 2,000-year-old France was pronounced a resounding success.

Premier Mollet looked at the deeper meaning of the visit for Britain and France when he said: "The entente cordiale is not only an entente between two countries tied by treaties and long co-operation. It is an entente of two people united for better or for worse."

Andre Maurois of the Academie Francaise was given the front page of Paris Press to express himself, under a headline reading "Thank You, Madame, for this Happiness Given France."

"The success of the Queen was a crescendo," he said.

'PARISIANS' QUEEN'

Not to be outdone, the rival France-Soir said: "When the can-'their Queen,' had left them, non sounded this morning Parisians knew that Queen Elizabeth 'their Queen,' had left them. Three days like dreams were finished for them."

Consent Is the Starting Point

WITH all respect to Mayor Scurrah's sincerity in the matter, we do not think that a united service club appeal for public subscription would or could raise the funds required to build a first-class auditorium here as a centennial project. While the service clubs have taken a new lead in crystallizing thought on the issue, few of them are in a position to commit themselves to underwriting any major part of such a venture; which would result in an appeal at large to the Greater Victoria community for a sum many times the total of the municipalities' centennial grants lumped together. There is a better chance.

If the municipal councils of Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt can bring themselves together on this proposal for a centennial auditorium—and it is the only one yet that has taken any hold on general public attention as a worthwhile centenary effort—that might stand as the precipitating action which could bring the rest in its train. If the city and its municipal neighbors went jointly to the provincial government with the offer of pooling their per capita centennial grants for this purpose that should go a long way in inducing the administration to pick up the offer made by Premier Bennett to build a major auditorium here under provincial direction.

Welcome as is this fresh show of interest in the long-needed auditorium, and valuable as may be the firm opinions expressed by the major service clubs of the community, this will go for nothing unless municipal co-operation can be brought back into the picture. A centennial auditorium is certainly not going to be acquired out of the per capita grants of the four municipalities, which even when doubled amount to only $126,000. It is idle to suggest that the service clubs or any other organizations put up the balance; and equally visionary to go seeking such a sum by public subscription in the community at this time. The Province could build it, but that it is not likely to do so long as the four communities remain at odds over what is to be done.

One more good try at bringing the four councils together on the auditorium project, coupled with an offer to apply their centennial grants to the purpose as an earnest of firm intent, if successful would place Greater Victoria in a position to renew its direct request to the government with the backing of a dominant body of public opinion in the area. Insofar as a "centennial" auditorium is concerned, it is literally now or never. In eight months time we will be in the centennial year.

Beyond His Understanding

PERHAPS a Middle West congressman, even though he is a member of the U.S. federal legislature, should not be expected to know much about royalty. American ideas on this subject remain strange in spite of presumed close international acquaintance. Nor perhaps can good taste be his criterion in view of the perspective that attaches to the pseudo queens of Hollywood and bathing beauty contests. The real thing is apt to be beyond his understanding.

Nevertheless the congressman's comments on Queen Elizabeth's wardrobe during her state visit to France bear rebuking. He could be told, and one hopes some other congressman with more savvy about things has already told him so, that this is none of his business; no more so than the clothes Mrs. Eisenhower wears have to do with the U.S. budget. It could be added also that the Queen's gowns have no relation to the postponed British payments on the post-war U.S. loan which with other congressmen he was engaged in considering. In fact the postponement is part of the original loan agreement, to be invoked if necessary, and is an ordinary business transaction between creditor and debtor.

Apparently with benefit also the congressman in question could be reminded that Britain did not count the cost of its sacrifice in war on a dollars and cents basis, or on clothes either, but at the outset of the two world conflicts of this century poured its blood out while some other nations made money out of neutrality. Great Britain's present financial plight results in considerable measure from liquidation of its American assets in the early stages of the last war while the Commonwealth was holding the fort for the free world for two whole years.

France also is a republic, but its legislators have an appreciation of the grace and culture, not to speak of the historical continuity represented, of the British monarchy; especially when personified by the young Elizabeth. The official arrangements and the extreme enthusiasm which French people have shown for the Queen, equalling in fervor almost the coronation acclaim of her own subjects, have been unparalleled. The Queen's reception has been outstanding in every respect, and this fine and fresh young figure, garbed in the regal splendor that properly belongs to a queen, has drawn the admiration of the French nation.

Birds Need Protection, Too

CAT-LOVERS are reported to be irate because some householders in a certain part of the city are catching cats and turning them over to the city pound, which lends them the traps. There does not seem to be any argument about the traps being of humane design, but members of the Victoria Cats' Protection League complain that these roving pets are being enticed into the traps with food. That's how most traps work and so long as there is no cruelty not much harm is done.

What seems to be lost sight of in these protests is that a householder who doesn't want stray cats in his garden has as much right to take steps as he would have if the trespasser were a human or a stray goat. Some people like cats, others like birds; and this is the season when there are birds in every garden. Unfortunately cats are instinctive torturers and killers, and it is an instinct which, unlike those of other pets, can seldom if ever be bred or trained out of them. To most people sensitive to such things a cat stalking a bird is a horrible sight, and the possible cruelty of a heaved brick to break the spell can be excused on the ground of humanity, since it is the cat which invites violence.

If people who keep cats see nothing repellent in this preying of birdlife they have little cause to feel aggrieved when others do and take action accordingly—especially when the slaughter occurs on their private property. Many who have nothing against cats as a race object to having their own gardens invaded by them and seeing the birds they enjoy torn to pieces. What cats do on their owners' property is their business, but marauding cats are a nuisance and worse. The remedy is in the hands of their owners.

Egyptian Build-Up Set Back

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CAIRO (CP)—Trying to find a pattern for the future course of events in this explosive area where hard facts and honest dealing are at a premium is a difficult task.

Even the plainly visible signs of future military preparations on both sides of the flimsy demarcation line do not stand up under the ordinary standards of logic.

In the first place a reasonable appreciation of the military situation undoubtedly shows that Egypt suffered a major defeat, and indications are the results would have been little different if there had been no Anglo-French intervention.

The visible signs of defeat in critical parts of the Sinai like El 'Arish and the Mitla Pass show the completeness of the rout. Egyptian armor is strewn in wild disorder but the pattern shows it was in retreat and there are no signs that a serious stand was taken.

* * *

The prisoner-of-war score was about 6,000 to 1 in favor of the Israelis, the single Jewish prisoner being a pilot forced to crashland well behind the Egyptian lines. It is also generally accepted that several thousand more prisoners were taken but they became such a supply problem to the Israelis that they stripped them of boots and sent them packing to their own lines.

There is little doubt in the minds of most military observers that the Egyptians were beaten not so much because of an inferior army but because of an inferior show of aviation. In spots like the Mitla Pass, Canadians of the United Nations Emergency Force have seen unmistakable signs that the fleeing Egyptian army was beaten from the air.

What then of the highly-touted MiGs that the Egyptians were known to have had? From my barracks window at the Canadian UNEF base at Abu Suweir I can see two big piles of wrecked MiGs—the Egyptian propaganda story that they were cardboard fakes to the contrary. And experienced airmen, counting tail assemblies, estimate anywhere up to 40 wrecked planes.

It is generally accepted that the reason for this was the well-known Egyptian lack of training and technical skill needed to maintain and fly such advanced jets.

However, at all points there are signs of Russian and Iron Curtain weapons, planes, tanks, artillery and equipment. These signs have been increasing recently and the equipment looks new rather than having come out of rear-base ordnance.

It will perhaps be three years before Nasser is ready, three years for the United Nations to find a permanent solution or to strengthen UNEF beyond a small-arms group of less than a brigade.

WHEN once somebody asked John Buchan how his next novel was coming on he replied that it was all finished; he only had to write it.

Buchan was a speedy penman who never lacked inspiration, so that meant he merely had to scribble out his story. Most other writers have to labor a bit.

And indulge in little fads; mannerisms of work, as it were.

For instance Alexandre Dumas, as I noted with delight the other day, suited his writing paper to his subject matter. If he wrote an article it went on pink sheets. If poetry was his bent the color was yellow, while blue writing pads were reserved for novels.

I was interested in reading of the habits of celebrated penmen because in my own humble way I have idiosyncrasies too. I must tug my typewriter to a certain precise spot, my cigarettes must be equally neatly placed, and so on. Some of my colleagues show similar sensitiveness. One can't write unless his desk is clear, another unless it is cluttered.

* * *

Above all, of course, a newspaperman must write. He cannot be like Balzac, who if thought failed him would copy out words from the Bible or the daily paper. The newsman has no choice but to produce something.

Dickens was like the newsman, writing mostly under pressure. In his case he was committed to the publisher, whose messenger often stood impatiently in the hall as he finished each instalment. Except that he was always behind the clock, Dickens had no quirks of habit, although he wrote best at nights.

Another true writer is a night-hawk. Beverley Baxter has told in Maclean's of his literary habits; he writes his London Letter in the small hours of the morning. A well-known modern novelist, Georges Simenon, prefers to write from dawn to breakfast-time.

Anthony Trollope, on the other hand, got up early to do his stint. He paid a manservant extra wages in fact to waken him at 5 a.m. by throwing water over him. A drastic summons, but I suppose he was a heavy sleeper and there were no alarm clocks in his day.

* * *

A novelist has to discipline himself, naturally, else perhaps he will dream the hours away, waking or sleeping. Trollope set himself a goal of 250 words each quarter of an hour. When he disclosed this he shocked the world of letters, which until then had pretended that all literature was inspired and had no mundane workaday taint.

Trollope wrote with equal facility in coaches, on railway platforms and on board ship. He may have been a journalist at heart for the latter often has to make shift as he goes along.

Most authors, I gather, past and present, force themselves to paper by setting an objective. Alastair Maclean, who wrote the best-selling "HMS Ulysses" a year or so ago, locks himself in the dining room and turns out 2,000 words a day from nine to five. At that pace, a fast one for creative effort, there would be a fair-sized novel at the end of two months. Balzac also set himself a daily target, stimulated by gallons of black coffee, and Zola had—a do-it-now motto carved over his mantelpiece, to wit: "No day without its line."

If the foregoing proves anything it is simply that writers are human and as pernickety as their readers. That is why so many different things appear in print. Buchan may have had it all in his head but few others do; they have to sweat it out with jad and fancy. Which may be why the poet Robert Bridges could write only with a quill pen cut with a silver knife. But poets always should have special licence, I think.

On the Record

Britain Has Courage To Face Facts

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

THE British white paper announcing drastic reductions in defence spending and, in the near future, the abolition of the draft, should not come as a surprise, however much it may upset the Pentagon.

Since the end of the Second World War Britain has strained herself to maintain or recover the position she held before it, as one of the premier powers of the world on a more or less equal basis with the United States and the Soviet Union.

This ambition was not merely a matter of pride. The existence of only two great powers in the world does not make for either stability or peace. It means that areas of weakness between them—and these areas today comprise a large part of Europe, Asia, Africa and the Middle East—invite the intervention of both in an effort by each to augment its strength, or merely withhold additional strength from the other.

This competition, continually waged on all levels, military, political, economic, and propagandistic, is the so-called "cold war"—with all the implicit possibilities of an eventual hot war, amounting to a battle for the world.

* * *

The exit from history of any great power brings with it great instabilities and overturns, as the survivors struggle to become its heirs. This was so well realized by our political ancestors that they strove to save rather than destroy their defeated enemies. The concept of unconditional surrender, of total destruction of power, was rejected — less from chivalrous considerations (although the aristocratic spirit of magnanimity was more discernible than in our democratic age) than from candid realization of the dangers of an abyss.

This has been a century of great wars, the demise of great powers, the dissolution of great empires, and the power division of the world.

It has therefore become a world with diminishing checks and balances upon the two titans.

Britain is still a power. But she is not a premier power. The aborted action in Suez was the test. She could not, or dared not, carry it through without the support of the United States or a disinterested posture by the Soviet Union. And the British governing classes (whether Conservative or Labor) are drawing the logical, and indeed inevitable, conclusions: Britain must cut the cloth to suit her real position.

Without adequate power measured by such factors as numerical population, strength, geographical size, relative self sufficiency in food and raw materials, financial solvency, and (in the atomic age) vulnerability of geographical position, Great Britain cannot continue to carry responsibilities now, probably, beyond her means.

The white paper, an expose of admirable clarity, contains material for much detailed analysis, but Britain's reluctant achnowledgment of her real position is the gist of it. The strength of the British mind is that it does not reject facts, however melancholy they may be. In this case, melancholy not only for Britain but for the whole free—and civilized—world.

Learning 'By Heart'

Old Methods Still Best

(From The U.K. Information Office)

MODERN inventions such as the magnetic recorder may play a significant part in future teaching of modern languages; but that learning "by heart" is still the very root of the study of a foreign tongue is the view of a comprehensive survey of the subject carried out by the Ministry of Education.

The survey reveals that significant progress in the teaching of modern languages, like most other subjects, are not learned at schools simply as an end in themselves. In learning to pronounce, speak and write another language boys and girls will probably for the first time become critically conscious of language and of sound in language, and this should help in the mastery of their mother tongue. One important advantage in learning a foreign tongue before the age of 11 years is the comparative ease with which young children can acquire th pronunciation and intonation of a language new to them.

It is felt that recording instruments, by means of which pupils can listen to their own voices, are especially adaptable to the requirements of the classroom and will almost certainly become an increasingly essential type of equipment. But the simplest and most effective visual aid to teaching is still the blackboard, says the survey; and the skill of the teacher is usually apparent from the use he makes of it. The old-fashioned lantern slide has been replaced by the filmstrip and gramophones are widely used, as there is an excellent supply of suitable records available.

The pamphlet states that French is still the language most commonly studied in English schools. It discusses the comparative popularity of German, Spanish, Italian and Russian and notes that Russian is making slow progress.

Reference is made to the value of exchanging teachers with foreign countries and to the establishment of pen-friends between nations.

Subjects covered by the survey include the general principle of teaching foreign languages and methods employed; progress in grammar and other types of secondary schools at elementary and advanced levels; modern languages in further education; books and ancillary aids; the training of teachers and, for comparison, a section on the teaching of foreign languages abroad.

Only the Promises Are Big

(From The Montreal Gazette)

NASSER has been receiving generous offers from Moscow. This might be a good time to evaluate those promises. Nasser himself has good reason to doubt them himself; the Russians indicated a year ago that if the West did not supply the loans for the Aswan Dam, they would. When the West rejected the plan, Moscow did not come forward.

In other areas, promises have been big but realities in aid small. Russia has been willing to supply arms, where there seemed an opportunity of gaining power, but has supplied little else. In return for her rice surplus, Burma has been loaded with cement she cannot use, electrical appliances for which she has no power supply.

In direct aid, the Russians fall ridiculously in the background. By the end of 1956, Ion Ratiu, author of "Policy for the West," estimated that Russian promises amounted to a total of $500,000,000. Aid delivered, however, amounted to only $23,400,000. In contrast, the United States alone had already delivered aid worth $37,000,000,000.

Moscow has made great propaganda material out of Soviet promises; the underdeveloped countries would be wise to check how she lives up to them, before they consider bargaining their freedom away.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Wives are counselled by a medical adviser to coddle their husbands after they reach 40. But that doesn't mean they should give him a rough time when he's 39.

* * *

Lady—Have you ever been offered work?

Tramp—Yes, once, but otherwise I've met with nothing but kindness.

He put his key in the door at 2 a.m. and found his wife waiting up for him with fire in her eyes.

"I suppose you've been holding a sick friend's hand all night?" she asked sarcastically.

"My dear," he replied, "if I'd been holding his hand, I'd have won enough money to buy you a mink coat."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

ONLY three or four years ago, the talk was all about pick-up pills. Now it is all about tranquillizers.

It was during the war that benzedrine and other rousing drugs came to public notice. I think it was when the German army invaded Crete that I first heard about some mysterious pills the German paratroopers were given to spur their energies. Right after the war students were taking benzedrine before exam time to help them stay awake and swot up their notes. Next, all our dispirited young matrons were carrying the little blue pills to pep themselves up for bridge parties. And in due time, the medical profession began to frown on pick-up pills.

About two years ago the tranquillizers arrived. They arrived via the mental institutions. They were first devised to relax the symptoms of anxiety and frenzy in the mentally disturbed. Next, they came on the market. And all the types of people who had been taking pick-up pills began taking slow-down pills. And now the medical profession is beginning to frown again.

One of the weirdest cases I know is a lady friend who carries two small pill boxes in her purse. One contains pick-up pills, the other, tranquillizers. She takes both. When she feels down in the dumps, she takes a pick-up pill, and in a short while feels fine. Full of zip. Ready to go. Fit for anything.

And when she gets herself all wound up like a mandolin string and is fairly twanging, she takes a tranquillizer. And in a few minutes, she begins to relax. Quiet. Softly smiling. Almost drowsy.

* * *

"Don't you worry about her?" I asked her brother, with whom she lives. "Surely those pills can't be good for her. Aren't they habit forming, really? In due time, won't their effect be lost? What happens when they won't work on her any more, poor girl?"

"We're going to tell her, in another month or two," he replied. "The doctor and I talked it over, when she first began using them a year ago. He gives her a special prescription for both of them. There isn't a thing in either of them but a little lactose or magnesia. They are what they call placebos."

We live in a wonderful imaginary age.

Boy Hibernates in Deepfreeze

Like a little animal, five-year-old Theo DeHoog, of Garden Grove, Calif., hibernated when accidentally locked in his home deepfreeze for nearly an hour yesterday. Deep sleep saved his life. Found when his mother heard a low moan, he was frostbitten, near death, his temperature below 92. "The most interesting case I've handled," said his physician.—(AP Photofax.)

Council Briefs

Little Home, Cat All She Owned

Council heard a letter from an elderly woman living in a basement apartment in a Dallas Road house who said she had been living there happily for 18 years but now city officials were insisting that she move out because of the low ceiling.

All she had, she said, was her little home which she didn't want to lose and her cat.

But Ald. Curtis presented another side of the picture. The house had caught fire because of the way a stove in the woman's room had been connected, and wiring came through a wall on the second floor without any protection whatever.

"I am quite sure no health authority would ever allow anyone to occupy those quarters," he said.

The matter was referred to health and welfare committee.

No Complaint

Ald. Austin Curtis, who said he had probably run for office in Victoria more times than anyone else present, said he had never received a complaint from a voter about having to come downtown to vote.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay later successfully moved that the legislative committee consider the advisability of seeking a change in the voting hours, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. to 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

* * *

A general policy of entertaining "only organizations having conventions that are closely allied with and whose affairs are directly identified with local government operations" was approved by city council yesterday.

At the same time, council asked finance committee to consider a civic luncheon for a convention of the War Amputations of Canada, leading Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow to observe, "Here's a motion we are considering and at the same time breaking."

But Mayor Percy Scurrah explained, "It gives the finance committee a lever or reason to say no, we've had so many of these requests. But the door will still be open for special cases."

More Stations

Use of multiple polling stations in civic elections instead of the single station in the public market building was rejected on the recommendation of finance committee.

Aldermen J. Donald Smith, Edgelow and M. H. Mooney wanted the committee to explore further the actual cost of having a minimum of 10 stations, and Aldermen Smith and Edgelow both said there had been demands from the voters for more stations.

Poland Doubles Wheat Purchase

OTTAWA (CP) — Poland will be buying a total of 22,200,000 bushels of Canadian wheat this year and next, double its original commitment, Trade Minister Howe informed the Commons yesterday.

He said an order for 11,100,000 bushels has already been booked with the Canadian wheat board for the current crop year ending July 31.

Council approved placing $1,500 in the budget to allow city garbage crews, on a specified day in each district, to pick up backyard-and-basement junk not normally taken away by the department, as suggested by Ald. Mooney.

But whether the $1,500 will remain in the budget when council considers it next month is open to question, Mayor Scurrah observed.

* * *

Cleanup

Ald. Smith said the Junior Chamber of Commerce, conducting a clean-up, paint-up campaign, was planning to "man the phones" to find out where scrap metal could be picked up, with a view to selling the metal to make money for a Juan de Fuca swim.

Ald. Mooney denied that there was any connection between the Junior Chamber's plans and the junk-removal service he proposed.

Ald. Curtis suggested that there might be less work for the city to do if council held up the work until after the Jaycees' drive.

* * *

An increase in the provincial share of Greater Victoria school costs of which council was notified yesterday will mean a decrease of about $26,000 in the city's share, Comptroller Dennis Young said.

The provincial share will be $51,000 higher.

On the recommendation of the town planning commission, which noted that there were no sewers nor water service on an industrial reserve site where Capital City Tallyho and Dominion Tallyho wanted to stable horses, council recommended against the provincial government granting a lease.

* * *

Regatta

Over considerable opposition from Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, who thought more inquiries should be made as to who if anyone would suffer, council rejected an application from the Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association for permission to have a western Canada speedboat regatta on Elk Lake this summer.

Ald. Arthur Dowell said oil and gas pollution of the lake would affect the wild life for which it is a sanctuary and also noted that the lake supplies drinking water for Brentwood.

* * *

Council also referred to finance committee the question of honoring the Victoria College Vikings, runners-up in the Canadian men's junior basketball finals. Ald. Austin Curtis said he understood the team would rather be given blazers than a luncheon.

* * *

$1,500 Grant

Request of the Nanaimo Tourist and Publicity Bureau for a city grant of $1,500 was referred to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow called for more consideration of the Nanaimo request, because, he said, "we have been trying for years to get better feeling between Victoria and up-Island communities."

B.C. Electric plan to convert its distribution system in Victoria over the next six or seven years from 4,000 to 12,000 volts will cost the company about $900,000, council was told. In exchange for about $64,000 worth of city-owned power poles, the company will convert city street-lighting circuits at the same time to multiple instead of series systems that will result in eventual economies, if council agrees.

Council withheld a decision.

Self-Government Condition

Ban Subversive MPs U.K. Warns Singapore

Ultimatum Comes As Shock

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain Thursday unexpectedly made internal self-government for Singapore conditional on banning "subversives" from the island's first all-elected parliament.

Shortly before returning by air from London Thursday night, Singapore Chief Minister Lim Yew Hock described the last-minute British condition as "a shock."

AGREEMENT REACHED

Agreement had been reached on all items in the month-long negotiations here when Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd informed the five-man, all-party Singapore delegation Wednesday of the mandatory ban on "subversives."

At a 25-minute ceremony Thursday morning to sign the final report, Lennox-Boyd said he had "found it necessary to insist" on the anti-subversive condition despite "strong opposition" from the Singapore delegates.

NO SPECULATION

Lim, a staunch anti-Communist, declined to speculate on whether his own party or the Singapore legislature would accept the London agreement. He told a reporter in answer to a question, however, that the legislature had the right to reject it.

The agreement provides the framework for a new constitution giving the crown colony's 1,200,000 inhabitants internal self-government and limited control of trade and cultural relations. Britain would retain responsibility for external defence and foreign relations.

START IN LONDON

Drafting of the constitution is expected to start in London shortly. It would go into effect some time after next Jan. 1.

Lennox-Boyd, defending the move, said "some temporary restriction of this kind is essential to safeguard the orderly development [illegible] Singapore against the danger of Communist subversion."

Lee Kuan Yew, representing the leftist People's Action party on the delegation, later told reporters the British move was "undemocratic."

Britain has made it clear that Singapore will be free after the first elections to chart its own internal policy toward subversives. Until then, Lennox-Boyd said, Britain must guard against the "danger both in Singapore and the free world of the enemy within."

Sugar Stocks Make Gains At New York

NEW YORK (UP)—Demand for sugar stocks helped to sweeten an otherwise routine stock market.

The market generally backed-and-filled within a narrow range breath after two sessions of active advance had added nearly two billion dollars to market values.

The utilities made the best showing in the averages, mainly on the strength of a good gain in People's Gas.

The sugars came into the spotlight on news of heavy buying of the commodity in world markets, particularly big Russian purchases of Cuban sugar.

Steels, recent market leaders, ran into profit-taking. Volatile Lukens Steel was knocked down almost 4 at one time but it came back to finish above its low. Youngstown also was a weak spot.

A. V. Roe Spurts

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market closed mixed Thursday after a session of uninteresting trading with the exception of a few selected industrials.

Feature of the industrial section was the activity in A. V. Roe. The stock gained ⅞ at 18¾ amid a turnover of 25,685 shares, heaviest volume among higher-priced industrials in months. In the previous three months of this year the combined volume on Avro was 27,017 shares.

Meanwhile, Algoma Steel, the company in which Avro is reported seeking controlling interest faded a few minutes before the close and lost two points at 125 amid a turnover of 2,540 shares.

Western oil and base metal prices moved in a moderate range but losses held a majority in both groups.

Market Leaders Sag

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed irregularly lower Thursday with losses ranging to four points.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Action in rye highlighted trade. Commercial house and American buying appeared and offerings were light. Prices were irregular but showed firmness.

Commercial demand in flax came from exporters. Trade reports indicated small parcel lot sales to the Continent. Offerings were in the form of hedges and other selling. Prices were fairly steady.

Oats and barley had domestic support but lacked overseas interest. Prices moved narrowly.

There was no information available on overnight loadings of Canadian wheat.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat and soybean futures staged a fair rally on the board of trade despite the generally bearish United States Government crop estimates.

Most dealings were by local traders and included short covering in wheat due partly to reports of cash wheat being shipped out of Chicago. Soybean strength was derived from firm vegetable oil prices and reports that a steamer loaded with 175,800 bushels of beans has been shipped from Chicago to Toronto.

Corn was the weakest grain, depressed by selling on the government report of heavy corn stocks and senate defeat of the corn acreage allotment bill.

Geoffrion Gets Two

Canyens Strike Early; Lead Bruins by Three

By W. R. WHEATLEY

BOSTON (CP)—Montreal Canadiens struck for three goals in the first period Thursday night, two by Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrion, to roll over Boston Bruins 4-2 and take a 3-0 lead in the Stanley Cup final.

Canadiens broke in front with an attack that briefly disorganized the Bruins. The Bostonians struck back for the only goal of the second period—their best of the game—and shared goals with the high-riding Canadiens in the third.

Floyd Curry and Phil Goyette added to Geoffrion's two goals and Don McKenney and Fleming Mackell scored for the Bruins.

The Canadiens had too much firepower for the Bruins although the Montrealers were outshot 25-21. The Boston attack lacked cohesion most of the time and Bruins were subjected to stiff checking as well as the outstanding goalkeeping of Jacques Plante.

Canadiens hit with an unexpected suddenness in the first period and the Bruins were fighting from behind from there on. They started out playing much the same kind of game as they did in Montreal Tuesday, when they were blanked 1-0, and were paying particular attention to checking.

Once Canadiens moved into the lead the Bruins were forced to gamble on a more open offensive, playing all men up during most of the second period and the latter part of the third.

Canadiens now become almost prohibitive favorites to retain the championship they won last year. The fourth game of the best-of-seven series will be played here Sunday.

Geoffrion's two goals Thursday night sent his total to 10 for the playoff series, in five games against New York Rangers in the semi-final and three in the final against Boston. The flashy Geoffrion, plagued by injuries in regular season play, is only two short of the playoff record of 12 held by his teammate Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Jean Beliveau.

NEW LINE CLICKS

The line accounted for two goals and held the Boston line of Cal Gardner at centre and Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Peirson on the wings scoreless.

Montreal's second big scoring line of the Richard brothers and Dickie Moore seemed unable to get going all night. They were kept tied up by Fleming Mackell, Jerry Toppazzini and Larry Regan and were subjected to heavy bumping.

Twice big Jack Bionda, Boston defenceman, flattened the Little Rocket, Henri Richard, and at one time spilled both Maurice and his younger brother within a few seconds.

The Boston threat of bumping Canadiens into submission at the start of the game failed to materialize against the quick scoring thrusts the Montrealers unleashed.

Canadiens came up with their best defensive stand of the game when they played short-handed two men for a minute and 13 seconds through successive penalties to Dickie Moore and Doug Harvey.

Bruins Gloomy

'Big One to Come' Claims Hab Coach

BOSTON (AP) — "It's a big one but the biggest one still has to come," Montreal coach Toe Blake said Thursday night after his Canadiens defeated Boston Bruins 4-2 for the third straight time in their best-of-seven series for hockey's coveted Stanley Cup.

"Don't forget, a team still has to win four games to win the series," Blake said in the dressing room following his team's triumph.

"I won't predict anything," he added. "They (the Bruins) still have a good team and don't forget it but if we don't make it in four straight it won't be because we didn't try."

Big Jean Beliveau, who admitted he was slowed slightly by a charleyhorse, called the victory "a big one."

Goalie Jacques Plante, who turned in a brilliant performance by stopping 25 Boston shots, felt his save on the Bruins' Vic Stasiuk in the opening minutes of the third period was one of the key points in the Montreal victory.

"I was very luckly on the shot," Plante said. "If Stasiuk had scored, it might have been a different game as it would have made the score 3-2 and the Bruins were flying."

WORST GAME

"They outplayed us all the way," Boston coach Milt Schmidt said in the gloomy dressing quarters. "It was our worst game in the playoffs. There were no breaks involved. We were terrible. Everybody played a bad game."

Schmidt said "we still have plenty of fight left" and promised that the Bruins will go all out in an attempt to become the second team in National Hockey League history to lose three straight games and then win the next four for the Stanley Cup.

"It's been done before and who knows . . . ," he said wistfully. "We'll just keep on going. Thursday night is water over the dam."

Regals Wrap Up Series By Blanking Edmonton

Rookie Bill Voss scored two goals and set up the third while veteran goalie Lucien Dechene held off the Edmonton Flyers at Brandon last night as the Regals blanked the Flyers, 3-0, to advance to the Western Hockey League final.

Victory last night gave Regals the best-of-seven prairie division final, four games to one. They took four straight after losing the opener, to earn the right to meet the winner of the western division New Westminster-Seattle playoff.

Regals, who led prairie division clubs in the league schedule, led 2-0 on first-period goals by Voss. Les Lilley added the clincher in the third period on a hotly-disputed play with Voss.

Dechene made a total of 35 stops in shutting out Flyers. He was especially effective in the second period, robbing Tony Leswick and Tom McCarthy on a pair of breakaways.

Voss' two goals were almost identical. Both times he fired 25-foot shots from a difficult angle, and both times they slipped between Dennis Riggin and the goalpost.

Riggin got a piece of the puck on Lilley's shot at 16.55, but officials ruled it had crossed the goal line.

Riggin slashed at the goal judge through the screen on the call, but the decision stood.

New Westminster Royals, leading the Coast series 3-1, will be out to wrap it up on home ice against the Americans tonight. If they don't, Hal Laycoe's already-depleted Royals are going to have a real problem.

Tonight's game is the last one defencemen Ted LeBodia, Tom Steeyk and John Yanchuk can play as amateurs. If they play another, they must turn professional, and indications were that they will not do so.

Edmonton — Goal: Riggin; defence: Roggeveen, Strate, Coffin, Hillman; forwards: Costello, Leswick, Holmes, Polis, McCreary, Melnyk, McCarthy, Lunde, Burton, Leonard.

Stars Lose Two Infielders; Seattle Wins, Mounties Lose

Hollywood Stars gained a split with the highly-rated San Diego Padres as the 1957 Pacific Coast Baseball League season opened on all fronts yesterday, but the Stars lost two infield stars through serious injury for an indefinite period.

The Padres gained a 6-1 victory in the opener of the doubleheader behind the three-hit pitching of Pete Mesa, but the Stars came back for a 4-1 triumph in the nightcap as Curt Raydon turned in a six-hitter for the winners.

However, Hollywood shortstop Dick Smith and second baseman Spooke Jacobs collided in attempting to field a pop fly in the third inning of the first game and both were taken to hospital. Preliminary examinations indicated Smith had a fractured jaw and Jacobs a slight skull fracture.

Hollywood's victory was featured by two home runs by Dick Stuart, the power-hitting outfielder who hit 66 circuit clouts for Lincoln last season.

A grand slam homer by catcher Ray Orteig powered Seattle to a 9-4 victory over Sacramento Solons before 8,053 Sacramento fans; veteran Harry Dorish, relief pitcher for Boston Red Sox, made his first start in three years and hurled a four-hitter as San Francisco blanked Portland, 3-0, and Los Angeles downed Vancouver Mounties, 4-2, behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Darnell and home runs by Darnell, Monte Irvin and Bob Borkowski.

Tempers Mount Daily . . . . . . At Ring Training Camp

Sugar Ray 'Talks Mean' About Floyd

By OSCAR FRALEY

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—A feud to rival that between the Hatfields and the Coys was flaming today between Floyd Patterson and middleweight challenger Ray Robinson because, the heavyweight champion declared, "That man talks mean about me."

Patterson and Robinson both have been training at Long Pond Inn and for almost a month tempers have been mounting daily. The icy hostility, in which they walk silent circles around each other, was disclosed when Patterson refused to pose with Robinson for photographers.

"Why should I stand with him and smile when neither of us mean it?" Patterson demanded brusquely. "I just don't want anything to do with him!"

"I'm an outspoken man," Patterson declared as he refused to be photographed with Robinson as part of the buildup for Sugar Ray's May 1st middleweight title fight with Gene Fullmer at Chicago.

The feud started when Robinson and other members of his large entourage waiched Patterson box one afternoon. Patterson's manager, Cus D'Amato, wasn't on hand and the Robinson group made boxing suggestions which they claim was only meant to be constructive criticism.

D'Amato blew up when he heard of the incident and angrily told the Robinson group:

"Don't interfere with my fighter."

Sugar Ray alleged that former light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim, whom Robinson beat for the title in 1952, could have beaten Patterson. Robinson also reportedly predicted that Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson would beat Floyd for the heavyweight title.

Patterson, needled by a recent scandal magazine story about marital difficulties, withdrew within himself at this new assault.

He also was hurt by references to him as "the champ nobody knows." Once easy and amiable, he has become more aloof and abrupt. He also has turned away from radio and TV appearances, saying "that's for actors and actresses."

Meanwhile, he is anxious to fight and confound his critics.

"I can wait until I get the number one contender (Jackson) in the ring," he said grimly.

Yanks 1-3 Favorites

NEW YORK (UP)—The world champion New York Yankees have been established overwhelming 1-3 favorites to win the American League pennant race in one of the most lop-sided "books" ever aligned by Broadway oddsmakers.

In a more conventional National League "book," the oddsmakers made the Milwaukee Braves 7-5 picks, followed by the Brooklyn Dodgers at 2-1, the Cincinnati Redlegs at 4-1 and the St. Louis Cardinals at 6-1.

Bessent Pounded by A's As Dodgers Blow Lead

Kansas City Athletics, held well in check by Don Newcombe and Ed Roebuck for seven innings, found the range against right-hander Don Bessent and edged the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-4, yesterday on the strength of a four-run rally in the ninth capped by Irv Noren's run-scoring single.

A crowd of 8,531 fans at Kansas City, shivering in 34-degree temperature and a light snow, watched Newcombe and Roebuck allow only one run through seven innings. But an error by Bessent and Gus Zernial's two-run single set the stage for Noren's game-winning hit in the ninth.

George Crowe smashed a three-run homer in the eighth to break a 4-4 tie and give Cincinnati Redlegs a 7-4 victory over Washington Senators while New York Yankees, leading 5-4 going into the ninth inning, dropped a 6-5 decision to their Richmond farm club.

Best pitching of the day was turned in by Lindy McDaniel and Willard Schmidt, who combined for a five-hit shutout in St. Louis' 3-0 win over Chicago White Sox. Rookie Jack Sanford gave up only two hits in a seven-inning stint as Philadelphia beat Boston, 7-1.

Brentwood Hoop

Brentwood meets Arrow Furniture in a senior "C" men's basketball game Saturday night at Brentwood in the windup of the Saanich and Suburban League season.

Presentation of cups to winners of all divisions will follow the game, which starts at 7 p.m.

Remember When:

The late Frank Calder, then president of the National Hockey League, 15 years ago today suspended—Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings and slapped a $100 fine on Detroit players Eddie Wares and Don Grosso, after a fistic assault on referee Mel Harwood during the fourth game of the Detroit-Toronto Stanley Cup final. Wings lost that series by four games to three, but Adams was reinstated before the next season.

Three Victorians Still Remain In Battle for Empress Crowns

Three Victoria golfers, two men and a woman, have a chance to give the city a clean sweep in the championship division of the annual Empress Golf Tournament for the second time in four years.

Mrs. K. B. Olson reached the finals of the women's division yesterday at Uplands Golf Club, while George Goodwin and R. D. Clay won quarter-final matches in the men's division at Victoria Golf Club.

It was in 1954 that a Victoria couple last swept both the men's and women's championships and the Sir Edward Beatty Trophies. Goodwin won his first title at that time and Mrs. H. G. Mearns took the ladies' trophy.

Last year's men's final was an all-American affair, while Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie of Victoria was beaten in the women's final.

In today's semi-final, Goodwin and Clay play off, thus assuring Victoria a berth in the final. The other semi-final puts C. V. H. Bryan of Calgary against G. W. Cook of Seattle.

Mrs. Olson plays an 18-hole final in the women's division against Mrs. M. Le Neveau of Calgary at Uplands today.

Clay scored the biggest upset of yesterday's play when he ousted last year's finalist Dave Coons of Vancouver, Washington, on the 20th green.

After halving the 19th, both golfers wound up in a trap with their second shots. Clay blasted to the edge of the green, but Coons went over it. Clay's first putt stopped inches short of the pin, and Cons conceded.

Cook, with a three-stroke advantage, went two up at the 15th and halved the next two holes to win from Harold Husband of Victoria, 2 and 1. Bryan won 1 up, from Dr. Bill Fowler of Vancouver.

Goodwin, who had a 14-stroke tie win when Goodwin missed a his handicap strokes, and clinched advantage on handicap, won his 12-foot putt on the 18th.

match 2 up from George Gardner. Mrs. Olson won her semi-final, a two-handicapper from Calgary, 2 and 1, from Mrs. A. Swan of Gardner won the 15th and 16th Uplands. Mrs. Le Neveau defeated holes to square the match, but Miss Jane Warter of Victoria Golf

Relief of Britain Canada's Destiny

VANCOUVER (CP)—The former head of the CBC says that if Canada accepts the "challenge of destiny," it will soon be able to relieve Britain of the main burden of the British Commonwealth.

Gladstone Murray, chief of the CBC from 1936 to 1942, told the Women's Canadian Club Thursday that the "British Commonwealth and the United States are the joint custodians of the future and Canada will steadily assume a larger share in the British Commonwealth as her partnership with the United States becomes more intimate."

'Canada and B.C. Lose Loyal Friend'

Men and women from every walk of life joined in tribute yesterday to the memory of the late John Hart [illegible] premier of British Columbia from 1941 to 1947 and one of the province's best-loved figures.

[illegible] day [illegible] Lieut.-Gov. [illegible] ant Governor Frank Ross and others who had served the province in close connection with Mr. Hart.

Active pallbearers were Jack Kingsley, Tom Worsnop, Hal [illegible] Cates and J. F. Lyons.

Honorary pallbearers included [illegible] Premier W. A. C. Bennett, [illegible] Hon. Clarence Wallace, Chief Justice [illegible] Attorney-General [illegible] Provincial Secretary [illegible] A. E. Gibbard, W. [illegible] George Pearkes, [illegible] Hon. Leslie Peterson, [illegible] and E. [illegible]

Bullness of the morning was offset by the scarlet splashes of color provided by the honor guard of Knights of Columbus and by the khaki uniforms of officers from the old 5th Regiment of which Mr. Hart was honorary colonel.

[illegible] LATIN LITURGY

[illegible]

Mr. Hart championed the rights of all and his greatness was never more in evidence than in the hard years of the depression, when he worked to relieve poverty and distress.

[illegible]

Mr. Hart's death, said the bishop, was a loss to the church, to the province and to Canada. To all he had been a generous, affectionate and loyal friend unswervingly attached to duty and to truth.

Don't Drool Yet

It isn't a very good idea to go stirring or cultivating the soil in the strawberry bed just when the plants are coming into bloom.

We often suffer from a lot of ground frosts during the critical flowering period and the increased radiation from newly stirred soil means this menace all the greater.

But most strawberry beds need some attention at this time of the year, especially when a wet fall and winter has packed the surface since the late autumn cleanup, or when alternate frosts and thaws have heaved the plants out of the ground.

It becomes as then to get this work done as far in advance of the flowering period as possible when it doesn't leave any comfortable margin of time.

When a fellow buys and sets out some fine strawberry plants he wants to start enjoying the fruits of his enterprise as soon as possible. He may be drooling over the prospects of great bowls of strawberries and cream this summer, but unfortunately there are pretty rigid rules governing the cropping of newly planted strawberry plants.

If the plants were set out last July or August or even up to Sept. 1, the practice is to allow [illegible]

Young strawberries planted this spring though are strictly verboten. Their flower stalks should be taken off as fast as they appear for we don't want any "teenage mothers" here. By throwing all their strength into building up their roots and crowns, a heavy crop next year is assured.

But a great hotel must in addition to beauty and service and good food have one other intangible: guests. The Beverly Hills has one of the most glamorous roster of guests of any hotel in the world. Its rooms have been adorned with movie stars and maharajas and Texas millionaires and Nobel Prize-winning novelists. Its swimming pool is invariably lined with beautiful brown girls.

First hotels should have physical beauty and individuality all its own which no other hotel has. The Beverly Hills nestles into the Beverly Hills as if it grew there, the wings run off in all directions, all of them unexpected.

Kiernan Defends Policy

Lease of Minerals Safeguards Assets

The B.C. government believes satisfactory arrangements can be arrived at to assure the mining industry "such continuity of title as is essential to its operation without abrogating the rights of the people as a whole to have some say in the disposition of their non-renewable natural resources," Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said yesterday.

That was part of a letter to [illegible] Mr. Kiernan wrote to Vancouver Law Society [illegible] who had criticized [illegible] a new system for the granting of mineral rights.

"Under the previous legislation a person or company receiving a crown grant of mineral rights acquired for all time complete control and title to a portion of the non-renewable resources of the province, to do with as he saw fit," Mr. Kiernan said in a letter to Mr. Ralston. "Without prejudice to previous crown grants, we do not feel that in the future we should dispose of this resource in such a fashion, as it is not in the public interest."

NON-RENEWABLE

Mr. Kiernan [illegible] had [illegible] that the [illegible] and [illegible] be kept [illegible]

On examination of this situation we found that most of the known proven or semi-proven reserves of iron ore had been crown granted in the past. This was a rather disconcerting situation, for we saw the known iron ore reserves of the province being mined and exported from the country, with little or no financial benefit to the people of the province and in most cases without paying any revenue to the province."

Cat Traps Replaced By Letters

Control of cats possibly the subject discussed for the greatest total length of time by Victoria aldermen so far this year, came before council again yesterday.

This time, council received and filed a letter of protest against box-trapping of cats, and resolved to write in future to cat-keepers about whom neighbors complained, asking formally for cooperation.

Asparagus Recipes in Keeping with the Season

According to various recipes the necessary nutrients [illegible] Once seasonings as I always say, can [illegible] meaning about two medium-sized ones) ¼ cup stock or water a dash of tomato ketchup or chili sauce Combine ingredients in the order listed Mix well and simmer uncovered, for about 10 minutes Press through a fine sieve and you should have about two cups and it is fun to serve with almost anything particularly chicken

And in keeping with the season here are some asparagus suggestions

ASPARAGUS LOAF

With eggs being down in price you may be interested in the following 4 eggs well beaten ½ cup chopped cooked chicken or any left-over meat for that matter, 1 cup thick white sauce freshly cooked asparagus Add eggs and left-over meat to the white sauce Turn into greased baking dish and lay the asparagus over the top As a matter of fact, if you want to make the dish look very pretty you can arrange the stalks of cooked asparagus in an upright position all around the sides of the dish Stand in pan of hot water and bake until firm, about two cups and it is fun to serve with almost anything particularly chicken about 30 minutes

ASPARAGUS SANDWICH

Marinate asparagus tips in French dressing (I use the ready made variety) And that word marinate simply means to toss around in a dressing of [illegible] for an hour or so Cut the crusts off thin slices of bread, if you know what I mean, and roll each slice with a rolling pin Spread with softened butter Place a stalk of cooked asparagus in each slice, roll up Tie and bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes Remove the strings and serve hot

And why do people scale asparagus? It's so silly because [illegible] small amount of [illegible] is [illegible] so why not leave it on?

On account of some chance involved in the freezing operations at home, for which there is very little knowledge of its [illegible] value on this former count we will [illegible] to give the matter [illegible] thought and [illegible] What [illegible]

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?

Made of dry 1½" Stock 10 and 12 inch widths. "FOREST" Siding is a new type of Siding obtained from specially selected Cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc.

HOW IS IT GRADED?

IN SUPREME GRADE for home and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound intergrown knots ranging in size from 2-inch to 6-inch widths to 4-inch in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of this grade.

IN QUALITY GRADE intended for use on summer homes, barns or industrial buildings where lowest cost construction is required with pleasing rustic appearance. Each grade comes in two finishes rough faced or smooth faced. The rough face has a sawn finish and smooth face is planed.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?

"FOREST" Siding with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume adds to the structural strength and solidity of the building.

The design of "FOREST" Siding ensures a tight weather seal of the lap which, together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle, makes excellent material from the insulation standpoint.

"FOREST" Siding represents an economy to home-builders. Costing less than most other types of Siding the lap design ensures easy fitting and speedy application at less labor cost.

YOUR HOME

Is the most important asset you [illegible]

WHY MOVE

Or build in some new area—improve your present home in the district where your friends are—where you know the folks in the community, church or recreation halls, where your children are familiar with the school, the clubs, their friends. Your home can have all the benefits of a new home at lower costs.

DON'T MORTGAGE YOUR FUTURE

Use our home improvement loans for a modernizing job. Our rates are the lowest in town and no [illegible] security required. For instance, you can renovate a 10x12 room with rich mahogany plywood [illegible] material cost less than $100.00 and you pay only $15.00 monthly.

PITY POOR MOTHER

With hard-to-clean drainboards and sink top—now you can replace them quickly and easily with Arborite Heatproof Counter Topping trimmed with chrome mouldings and what a difference to have them polished and gleaming with one wipe down. Lay your own floor tiles, too—it's inexpensive, simple and gives your kitchen that new home look. Monthly payments of $15.00 will do wonders.

MAKE A HIT

With your children, give them a [illegible] room in the basement [illegible] a place teen-agers will be pleased to bring their friends to spin records and other activities. Solve [illegible] problem of knowing where the young folks can be found. It's easy to waterproof concrete walls and floors and put in extra windows. Choose from a large selection of wallpapers, do the job yourself—pay as little as $10.00 monthly.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

Can be fun for the whole family on many projects, you'll be surprised how easy it is with many of today's easy-to-apply materials. Now Stewart & Hudson have the latest selection of Popular Mechanics Do-It-Yourself books on Mixing Concrete, Fencing, Extra Rooms, Barbecues, Power Tools, etc., priced at 25c and 75c each.

MAKE IT EASY

With power tools—Cummins ¼" Drill Kit complete with accessories only $26.95. And every handy man should have a Cummins Mazaw—this portable electric handsaw handles any 2" lumber, even angle cuts on 2x4 rafters. Your Mazaw is priced only at $69.95. Can be purchased at $15.00 down (plus tax) and 3 equal payments of $15.00 with no interest, no carrying charges. Call in for [illegible] demonstration.

DOUGLAS FIR
PLYWOOD
(Waterproof Glue)
13½-Ft. INBOARD
Designed by Edwin Monk Naval Architect

PLANS and Specifications
with MATERIAL LIST and COMPLETE INSTRUCTIONS

This plan embodies all the advantages of fir plywood construction and is excellent for fishing on bays, lakes or streams. It is relatively fast and holds four people comfortably.

It is sturdy with "A" marine grade Douglas fir plywood planking on sides and bottom. Yet it is easy to build as planking with plywood means a single panel forms each side with two panels covering the bottom.

As the initial step in preparing to build this plywood boat, make a thorough study of the plans, noting carefully the construction details at each station, and reviewing the materials listed in the fir plywood and lumber order.

Obtain the required plywood, lumber and other materials from your local retail lumber dealer.

In ordering plywood, be sure to specify Douglas fir plywood which has completely waterproof bond for all outdoor and marine applications.

Low Water Supply Threat Not Feared

B.C. Power Commission officials said yesterday they were concerned "but not worried" over the possibility of a lower water supply in Vancouver Island watersheds this year.

Although a provincial snow survey bulletin issued Wednesday showed that snow cover on the Island this year amounted to only 43 per cent of the 1956 cover, a commission spokesman said that new hydro generating facilities and additional power sources more than compensates for the water supply.

New installations, such as the Ladore units, will be utilizing the same water that generates power at John Hart in the Campbell River system.

SHARING CABLE

The commission also has a standing agreement with the B.C. Electric for use of the new cross-strait cable to bring power here from the mainland, where snow cover is much heavier than on the Island, in event of an emergency.

Critical months for water supply will be September and October, the spokesman said.

"We are not alarmed," he said. "We have received snow cover records for only the past four years, and therefore know little about determining the actual snow cover average of the Island."

Assault Charges

Indian Battle Ends in Court

SIDNEY—A battle between a group of Indians from the Duncan reserve and Indians from Saanich Peninsula reserves at a dance March 30 in the Brentwood reserve, resulted in court action here yesterday.

Four Duncan Indians pleaded guilty to charges of assault and were fined $25 and $12.50 costs, or 14 days in jail, by Magistrate F. J. Baker.

They were Francis Louis, Anthony Jimmy, Collins Jimmy and Gilmer Jimmy.

Court was told that bad feeling had developed between Duncan and lower Island Indians and had resulted in the Brentwood fracas and earlier fights on the Esquimalt reserve.

Charges of assault were laid after a conference of tribal chiefs, it was reported.

On the Labor Front

Board to Mediate Painters' Dispute

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks announced yesterday the appointment of a provincial conciliation board with N. E. Munson as chairman to act in a dispute between seven Victoria painting firms, represented by the Victoria Building Industries Exchange, and Local 1163 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America.

* * *

The minister also announced appointment of W. T. McLaughlin as a privincial conciliation officer in a dispute between Cowichan Copper Mining Co. Ltd., Lake Cowichan, and Vancouver Island District Miners' Union, Local 965. Approximately 20 miners and surface workers are affected.

Mr. McLaughlin will also conciliate a wage dispute between St. Joseph's Hospital and the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C.

Approximately 167 registered nurses of the hospital are affected, according to the ministers announcement, and the parties have been unable to agree upon salaries, annual increments, credit for post-graduate experience and accumulated sick leave.

Courtroom Traffic Cases Heard

Business was light in two police courts yesterday.

In city police court in the morning, Magistrate William Ostler acted for Magistrate Henry C. Hall, absent at the funeral of B.C.'s former premier, John Hart, and a minimum of cases was handled.

The afternoon's sitting of Saanich police court lasted little longer, and dealt almost exclusively with traffic cases.

After a brief trial, Jack Donald Bradbury, 945 Esquimalt Road, was found guilty of exceeding a 40-mile speed limit on the Patricia Bay Highway. He was fined $25. He was fined a like amount, not concurrent, for driving without a licence.

Keith Darwin Ford of the Edgewater Motel pleaded guilty to driving without a licence, and was fined $30. He stated he had an Alberta chauffeur's licence, and thought he could drive with it until it expired.

Third person to plead guilty to driving without a licence was Ariel Joyce MacLean, 2540 Fernwood, who was also fined $25.

Albert H. Woielge, 1231 Cordova Bay Road, pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge arising from an accident April 6 as he turned from Royal Oak Avenue onto the Pat Bay Highway. Damage totalled $400. He was fined $35, and undertook to drive for business purposes only for a month.

Pleading guilty to two charges of failing to file an income tax return for 1954, William Wallis, 4229 Wilkinson Road, was fined $25 on each charge, and $2.50 costs.

* * *

In city police court two drivers pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving, and each was fined $35.

They were Hendrik Van Boven, 964 Beckwith, involved in an accident March 28 at Quadra and Johnson; and Erick Kouber, 2-1120 May, whose car struck a parked vehicle Jan. 12 on Humboldt.

Fell in Tub, Not Hit, Accused Says

John Osborne Dow, 26, is insisting before the B.C. Court of Appeal that he wasn't hit—he fell.

He is appealing a sentence of 18 months at hard labor in Oakalla for attempting to break into the basement apartment of Brian Johnson, 3155 Millgrove, Saanich, at about midnight last Oct. 23.

Johnson said he was awakened by a noise at the window, got up, and threw a heavy iron boot at a face in the window.

Saanich police followed a trail of blood which led them eventually to St. Joseph's Hospital where Dow was receiving treatment for a head injury.

Dow's statement is that he suffered the injury by falling in his bathtub at a Gorge Road motel.

Dow is being represented by J. K. Macey, and Lloyd Mackenzie is appearing for the crown.

Hungary Revolt Cost a Billion

VIENNA (Reuters) — Total loss to Hungary as a result of last October's national uprising is computed at more than $1,000,000,000. The figure, which includes losses through destroyed and damaged property and loss of national income, is quoted in the Hungarian trade union newspaper Nepakarat.

Indian-White Brawling Described As Murder Charge Hearing Opens

Stabs in Back Cause of Death

CAMPBELL RIVER—A tale of a night of brawling on St. Patrick's Eve and early morning unfolded here yesterday at the preliminary hearing into a charge of murder against Vernon Ernest Breckon of Vancouver.

Breckon is charged with the knife slaying of William Wallace, following a St. Patrick's Eve dance.

The courtroom was crowded with Indians from Wallace's Cape Mudge band on Quadra Island.

Breckon, a tall slender man in his 30's, wore a maroon shirt and green tie, but no coat.

He wiped his brow as exhibits of clothing and a blood-stained knife were introduced in court.

Dr. J. G. Depew testified that Wallace died instantly of internal bleeding caused by two knife wounds in the back. Dr. Ross McNeely, pathologist at Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria, said samples of blood from Wallace were of the same blood group (Group O) as stains found on the earth at Quathiaski Cove, on Quadra Island.

Several witnesses testified there had been fights inside and outside the dance hall at Quadra Island between the Indians and white men.

Dr. Depew said that while at the island in connection with the knifing he heard noises coming from a house. He knocked on a door and went into the house where he found a man lying on the bed, obviously injured.

He took the man, later identified as Max Loch of Vancouver, to Campbell River for treatment, which required six stitches in his head and one over his right eye.

When he gave evidence, Loch said he had gone to the island to a dance and was walking along the path to Breckon's house at Quathiaski Cove, about half a mile from the dance hall, when someone beat him up.

He said he couldn't identify his attackers because it was dark at the time.

Paul Delaney of Vancouver is acting for defence counsel Thomas Dohm and J. R. Caldwell is crown counsel. Magistrate P. E. Lewis is officiating at the preliminary hearing which will continue today.

Duncan Consultant

Recently appointed consulting engineer for Duncan is R. E. Potter of Victoria. Council decided at a meeting this week that it would be in the best interests of the city to have a man available at short notice and Mr. Potter would be available at an hour's notice from Victoria.

Gets 14 Months

Look at Yourself, Brannan Boy Told

NANAIMO — A Brannan Lake inmate, 16-year-old Gerald Joseph Roy, was sentenced to 14 months at the Young Offenders' Unit, Oakalla, by Magistrate Lionel Beever-Potts yesterday, on two charges of auto theft and one of breaking and entering. Sentences will be concurrent.

Roy was told "take a look" at himself. "If you keep going as you are," said the magistrate, "you are likely to end up in the B.C. Penitentiary."

Police said the accused first "eloped" from the institution Dec. 2 with two other boys. The trio stole a car, drove to Courtenay, but were picked up by RCMP in Nanaimo when they returned.

The youth was charged and returned to the school. Three months later, he again escaped and stole a second car. At this time he broke into a South Wellington cafe. After giving police the slip at Duncan, he left Victoria for the mainland. There, he was later picked up by police.

Roy pleaded guilty to all three counts in open police court.

Tax Rate Boosted

LADYSMITH — Ratepayers here will reap only about $10 benefit from the $28 home owner's rebate passed by the legislature this year.

City council has set the mill rate for 1957 at 30 mills, an increase of six mills over last year. City clerk R. S. Wood explained that on $3,000 assessment taxes would increase $18, to $99 from $81.

He said school taxes are up to 20 mills from 16 mills and general taxation to 10 mills from eight mills.

Parade Budget Draws Frowns

NANAIMO—City fathers frowned on a record $4,500 budget for the 1957 Empire Day parade and asked the committee for a "slow down" on expenditure. The city is asked each year to meet the financial deficit of the Empire Day celebrations.

Stan Kenton in Nanaimo For Empire Day Dance

NANAIMO—The world-famous Stan Kenton and his band have been booked by the Empire Day celebration committee here to appear at a dance in the Civic Arena May 20. Full house of nearly 3,000 people is anticipated for the event.

Bigger Hospital Needed

Nanaimo Takes Tax Beating

NANAIMO — Dr. Tom Golding, president of the medical staff of Nanaimo General Hospital, charged Tuesday that Nanaimo, a growing centre, was not getting a return in proportion to its growing contributions from that part of the 5 per cent sales tax earmarked for hospital services.

He said the present system of financing hits growing communities and the only way to combat it is to obtain a larger and more adequate hospital.

Hospital administrator Gordon Frith announced, however, that first plans for a proposed new $3,000,000 hospital would be ready by April 25.

This was after Dr. Golding had stressed that static communities or those which already had adequate hospital facilities fared very well under the sales tax system.

Duncan Refuses

Free Parking? —Too Difficult

DUNCAN — A request from the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce that courtesy parking meter cards be issued to visitors to the city was refused by the city council.

Suggestion was that the parking meter attendant be empowered to issue the cards to those from outside the city, but this was rejected as being impractical and giving too much power to the meter attendant.

"It is a worthwhile idea," commented Mayor J. T. Dobson, "but it would be too difficult to operate without many abuses."

Library Building Project Mooted

DUNCAN—A new building to house the Duncan office of the Vancouver Island Union Library was urged on council as being a good centennial project by Alderman Steve Saunders.

"The library is overcrowded and room is needed for the extension of services which should take place," he said.
